

Our hope is that you were challenged by Sunday's message and would desire to take the study a little deeper. Whether for personal study, family study, or for a Home Group gathering, use this study to go deeper.

Open

June 17, 2018

Last week, we wrapped up the Beginning to End series tying the events of Genesis 1-3 to the final chapters of Revelation. This week, we will take a look at what happens in between. Specifically, persevering as a follower of Jesus Christ.

Read

2 Peter 1: 3-12, Galatians 5: 22-23,
1 Corinthians 13:7, Hebrews 12: 1-3

Discuss

- Can you think of someone who for you has been a model of perseverance? What is it about this person's character that sticks out to you?
- How does perseverance as a follower of Jesus Christ look different when compared to the secular world (i.e. relationships, marriage, parenting, etc.).
- Suffering is one of the main objections many people have to believing in God. Is it impossible or at the very least improbable for suffering and the God of the Bible to co-exist? Why or why not?
- We all probably know someone who has experienced the emotional trials of pain and suffering. How could we possibly help them with their doubts about God's sovereignty in their times of need?
- Your challenge for this week: use the concordance in your Bible and look up verses pertaining to perseverance/endurance. Write down the ones that stick out to you and try and commit them to memory!

Our hope is that you were challenged by Sunday's message and would desire to take the study a little deeper. Whether for personal study, family study, or for a Home Group gathering, use this study to go deeper.

Open

June 17, 2018

Last week, we wrapped up the Beginning to End series tying the events of Genesis 1-3 to the final chapters of Revelation. This week, we will take a look at what happens in between. Specifically, persevering as a follower of Jesus Christ.

Read

2 Peter 1: 3-12, Galatians 5: 22-23,
1 Corinthians 13:7, Hebrews 12: 1-3

Discuss

- Can you think of someone who for you has been a model of perseverance? What is it about this person's character that sticks out to you?
- How does perseverance as a follower of Jesus Christ look different when compared to the secular world (i.e. relationships, marriage, parenting, etc.).
- Suffering is one of the main objections many people have to believing in God. Is it impossible or at the very least improbable for suffering and the God of the Bible to co-exist? Why or why not?
- We all probably know someone who has experienced the emotional trials of pain and suffering. How could we possibly help them with their doubts about God's sovereignty in their times of need?
- Your challenge for this week: use the concordance in your Bible and look up verses pertaining to perseverance/endurance. Write down the ones that stick out to you and try and commit them to memory!